

Module Four - Lesson Four Friends and Acquaintances

People are drawn to you because they believe in what you believe. My friends align with who I am. Do yours? Do your friends believe in the same things you do?

Or, do you have friends that are in your life just because you have known them for a long time?

Friends should encourage and inspire you. They should be people that you want to be around often because you are empowered by who they are and what they have to say. They are most like you and believe in similar ideas.

Your survival is all about who you keep close to you. If your friends are not friends that lift you up and help you become the best version of yourself, they are friendships that will need to be evaluated.

Evaluate your friendships through your mission statement and decide if they are of value to you or how close you want to keep them.
